

Please do not weaken the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. Prior to passage of the Telephone Privacy Law, we received approximately six (6) calls daily on our two lines--credit card companies, phone companies, banks, and various solicitations. The worst part were computer activated calls where we picked up a phone and there was no one on the line. That irritation has ceased; the mealtime/bath time/family time interruptions have been effectively stopped.

The lower national standard would preempt the protection we have been given by our State. Please do not override Indiana's authority.
